Built for people who just want to learn.

Real code, real projects

Every lesson builds something you can run, not just slides about theory.

From fundamentals to frameworks

Start with how the web works, move up to the tools teams use every day.

Built for busy schedules

Short sessions that fit around a job, not the other way round.

[FAQ]

Honest answers to the small stuff.

Do I need any coding experience to start?

No — the development track starts from the absolute basics and builds up gradually.

What languages and tools are covered?

JavaScript, Python, and the everyday tools of modern web development, with more added regularly.

Are these lessons project-based?

Yes, wherever possible — you will be writing and running real code, not just watching.

Can I skip ahead if I already know the basics?

Absolutely. Browse by topic and jump straight to what you need.
